Editor's desk

Education is a tool for success which enables us to override the challenges in life. It is a continuous process from the childhood. Quality in education along with ethics is the need of the present era. Even though quality in education is feasible through many conventional modes, the high challenges in modern world mandate the skill development in their respective area of specializations. Skill development along with least environmental impact helps our future generations. The typical examples are Arts and Crafts in the Garment Technology. Presently the scientists are focusing the research in net zero energy projects. Such a concept should be extended to Garment and Textile Industries to diminish the global warming. Also more emphasis is required on end products with innovative technologies and cost cutting processes. To attain the above, each one of us should understand the responsibility of excellence along with ethics.

Dr. K.KALIDASAN

HOD/ Co-Ordinator
